

David Spencer

David Spencer is the Vice President of Market Intelligence at Arrive Logistics. He delivers regular market data analysis to internal teams as well as the monthly and quarterly Market Updates to Arrive customers and carriers to help them make real-time business decisions. He has been in the logistics industry, focused on business intelligence since 2011. David lives in Austin and graduated from the University of Illinois with a degree in applied mathematics and actuarial science.