

Jay Carter is a Strategic Market Manager at The Greenbrier Companies located in Lake Oswego, Oregon. Originally from Winston Salem, North Carolina, Jay received his bachelors in business management and a masters in applied economics and international trade from North Carolina Agricultural & Technical State University, and a Marketing Strategy Certificate from Cornell University. Jay Carter's vocational experience consists of economic analysis, marketing, pricing, agriculture and transportation with companies such as Cargill, John Deere, Norfolk Southern and The Greenbrier Companies.