

Justin currently serves as an Associate Director of Research and senior analyst at Stephens. Since 2010, he has covered the transportation sector with a primary focus on the railroads & transportation equipment suppliers. Prior to equity research, he completed the two-year investment banking analyst program at Stephens. Justin graduated from Rhodes College with a degree in Economics & Business Administration, and he currently resides in Little Rock, AR with his wife and two children.