

Chris Visser is a leading go-to source for commercial truck market intelligence. Chris has been watching the used truck market since 1998 and is the architect of J.D. Power and NADA's commercial vehicle valuation processes. In his career, Chris has experienced multiple used truck boom-and-bust cycles and is an expert on the fundamentals that drive the used truck market.